(54) NAVIGATION DEVICE WITH DANGEROUS OPERATION REPORTING FUNCTION

(57)Abstract:

PURPOSE: To obtain a navigation device with a dangerous operation reporting function whereby safety in driving is improved by providing a road detecting part, a brain wave detecting part, a safety evaluating part and a reporting part.

CONSTITUTION: An interpretation processing part inside a mainbody part 107 has the function as the road detecting part detecting information concerning a road in CD-ROM and the function as the safety evaluating part evaluating and judging the safety of an user operation in addition to the function for interpreting information. Here, after map information with a present position obtained by a GPS antenna part 101 as a center is obtained by a CD access part 104, the road with probability to run in future is previously grasped by the road detecting part of the mainbody part 107 and the road to run in future is estimated by the safety evaluating part based on the movement in future, which is obtained by the brain wave detecting part 106, so that safety is evaluated and a report is executed from the reporting part 105 based on the result. Thus, danger is detected before action when dangerous action in driving is about to be executed so as to report it to a driver without previously setting a drive route.
